Altosid IGR Mineral Tub

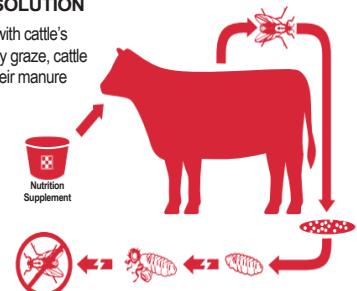

It's a fact! The constant biting of horn flies inflicts excessive stress on cattle. Fly counts can reach up to 2,000 flies per animal, taking up to a gallon of blood in a 135-day fly season. Control horn flies all season with Altosid IGR Wind & Rain Mineral Tub and you will see a difference in your herd. Begin putting Altosid IGR out in the spring. Continue feeding Altosid IGR throughout the summer until 30 days after the first frost to help prevent horn flies.

WIND AND RAIN® STORM® FLY CONTROL MINERAL CONTAINS ALTOSID®

ALTOSID® IGR SOLUTION

Altosid is ingested with cattle's mineral or feed. As they graze, cattle disperse IGR via their manure Adult horn flies live 2 to 4 weeks, taking 20 to 30 blood meals per day.

In 1 to 2 days, eggs hatch into larvae. After 3 to 5 days the larvae molt into pupae.

Altosid breaks the life cycle here, preventing pupae from molting into adults.

Female flies leave the animal for a few seconds to lay eggs in fresh manure less than five minutes old.

Also available in sacks!

Woodward
Livestock
Auction
Woodward, OK

If we don't learn anything else from this COVID fiasco I hope we learn that we need to make as many things as possible in the United States. We are very dependent on China because we chose to be.

Who cares if they pay their workers nothing as far as their product entering the U.S. Level the playing field and put a tax on their product or any other country's product entering the U.S. Then get our people off of welfare and put them to work. Laziness breeds itself and you get several generations of people to wanting to work then their kids grow up with that mindset and very few get out of it.

I think a lot of the younger generation think they have an entitlement. If you have tried to order a motor or buy a vehicle and the list goes on and on. It's all on back order.

I wouldn't be surprised if some countries are not holding out on these items trying to cripple America. And then, if the high ups in government are filling their pockets and letting America suffer the consequences then it is even worse.

I said to one of the buyers that comes to the sale that Thunder basketball was going to require you to be vaccinated or else have a 72-hour negative test before you could go to the ballgames. He said, "That's the same thing I have heard from several others." He said, "I wouldn't go to their game if they gave me the tickets and paid for my gas and bought all the popcorn I could eat; not after some of their teammates knelt during the national anthem."

People of every color have died for this nation to have freedom and I agree it is extremely disrespectful.

The cattle market is still going good but we are still getting cheated by the packer. Are we fine with that and afraid to make waves and stand up for what is right?

There was a blonde lady that went to the department of store but became very frustrated with the man helping her try to find some shoes. She finally hollered at him and said, "I'll just go out and catch my own alligator and get a pair of alligator shoes for free." The shopkeeper replied with a wry smile, "Well, little lady, why don't you go give it a try?"

The blonde headed off to the swamp determined to catch an alligator. Later in the day the shopkeeper was driving home and spotted the young woman standing waist deep in the murky water with a shotgun in her hand. He saw a huge 9-foot gator swimming rapidly toward her. With lightning quick reflexes the blonde took aim, shot the gator and hauled it up onto the slipper bank.

Nearby were seven more dead gators all lying belly up. The shopkeeper watched in amazement as the blonde struggled with the gator. Then rolling her eyes she screamed, "Dang it! This one's barefoot too!"

Editor's note: Jerry Nine, Woodward, Oklahoma, is a lifetime cattleman who grew up on his family's ranch near Slapout, Oklahoma.

(DWC) DEEP WATER CULTURE STYLE GROW
We pride ourselves on a quality hydroponic grow process which ensure proper nutrients to our plants.

QUALITY FLOWER, SHAKE & TRIM AVAILABLE

Why grow DWC? Faster growth - Plants grown in deep water culture intake more oxygen directly from the air than from the oxygen dissolved in water. DWC allows the roots to absorb large quantities of oxygen also allowing the intake of balanced nutrients. This leads to accelerated growth throughout the plant's life, bringing quality medical cannabis to the patients quicker. In DWC, growers have control over nutrients, which means growers can fix nutrient problems quickly. DWC growers are also least likely to have their garden attacked by bugs or pests (though it's definitely still possible). Therefore, it reduces the need for pesticides, allowing us to keep your medicine clean and sticky!! We believe DWC is the best way to grow cannabis.

EXPLORING ENERGY NEWS

Corporate Energy Leadership

By: Mark A. Stansberry,
Award-Winning Author
Energy Advocate and Chairman of The GTD Group
www.nationalenergyltalk.com
FACEBOOK: National Energy Talk

The effectiveness and efficiency of an energy corporation depend strongly on the board, officers, and ultimately on a team effort, from all levels. In 2018, I spoke at several events with the presentation being entitled The Digital Transformation: From the Whiteboard to the Boardroom.

It seems so simple that there would be open dialogue and discussions among corporate leaders and with all levels. However, there is nearly always a degree of improvement necessary when it comes to corporate communications from the leadership. Several from the "whiteboard" have expressed their concerns that board members in some cases are not responsive to many suggestions, ideas, and solutions in the corporation's future.

There are so many issues and concerns confronting the energy industry, from climate change to methane emissions, cyber security, digital transformation, work force development, proper funding, and infrastructure, and the list goes on, in regard to the evolving energy transition. Whether a corporation is working in the Gulf of Mexico, offshore, onshore, domestically and/or internationally, the challenges are daily present for corporate energy leaders.

Technologies and innovations are essential in the progress of a corporation's success. Whether it be future use of clean coal technology, electric vehicles, hydrogen, or other forms of energy, strong leadership will be necessary in navigating the corporation's roadmap.

One concern that I have is with preparing leaders of the future, for the challenges they will face. Along with the leadership, having a strong workforce will be an even greater challenge. Therefore, I believe that "STEM" (Science Technology Engineering Math) programs from the grade schools to the college levels and technical schools will be so important.

Firsthand, I was involved as Chairman and Board Member of the Board of Regents of the Regional University System of Oklahoma, RUSO, with the development of a major STEM project in Oklahoma. The Donald Betz STEM Research and Learning Center was opened November 14th, 2018, at the University of Central Oklahoma. The center is the interdisciplinary hub for the university's various science, technology, engineering and mathematics programs, including biology, chemistry, engineering, forensic science and nursing. The building adds 56,000 square feet of learning space for the campus for the highly-sought STEM majors.

There are so many STEM and similar projects throughout the nation. But, I can't emphasize enough, the importance of such commitments by energy companies, communities and universities.

While communication and workforce development are vital to success at the corporation, many energy companies struggle with defining their true mission and vision. The input from all levels have to be addressed in order to reach full potential.

Strategy of the corporation starts at the top, but includes meetings and retreats, which are held to embrace all avenues of input. Many energy companies have been successful as well as many have been unsuccessful, due to their strategic planning or lack thereof. The focus upon a concise strategic plan is key. The energy corporations normally are confronting continuing changes that make it difficult to incorporate the strategic planning processes.

The corporation must be comprised of the right people at the top. For the shareholders to get full value out of their investment, they must have leaders who stay up to date on energy issues, technology, and other key components. The board needs to be comprised of cross-sections of disciplines.

America needs America's energy, and America needs strong energy leadership! For more information, go to www.MarkStansberry.com and to join our effort, go to Facebook: National Energy Talk.
