Weather will always be on the mind

Jerry Nine
Woodward, OK

It is 2024. And the older you get the years seem to go faster. For a lot of us it is a time to think what we want to accomplish.

The future for the cattle business and farming is fairly unpredictable. We can make big plans but Mother Nature or rainfall has a lot to do with our success. Last year was an extreme year for our area. After coming through a drought the year before it changed to the first part of last year we received much needed rain but then by August we wondered if it was going to rain again.

For most of us farming in northwest Oklahoma and the Panhandle it is high risk at the cost to put in a crop and wondering if it will rain enough to get anything in return. Some planted wheat in hopes of rain while others waited. Then fortunately it started raining again.

And thank the Lord our last wet spell was not snow or it would have been 3 feet deep. A neighbor said he had received 36.5 inches of rain which is a little over 3 feet for those of you that struggle with math. Unheard of for our area. I asked Siri what the annual rainfall was for Laverne, Oklahoma, and she said 24 inches. I'm thinking she should visit more often—I thought it was 16 to 20 inches.

The cattle market has been very good but has also had big swings in price. After falling off our highs in a big way there is a lot of variance in what cattlemen think. You hear some say they think it will bounce back in a couple of months while others want to be negative.

I get amused at cattlemen who are often so persuaded by the futures. When we are going up, there is a group that thinks the sky is the limit. But when we are going down, some think we will have to pay someone to take our cattle.

The other day I was in a restaurant and a mother and her small son were in the booth next to me. The little boy kept making faces at me, which didn't bother me. But after about 15 minutes of him making faces I said, "When I was young, my mother told me that if I made an ugly face that it might stick like that and be that way forever." The little boy said, "Well looks like your mom was right."

In the Quick Stop the other day there was a couple sitting in the next booth. They appeared to be in their 80s. She said, "You only hear what you want to hear." He said, "Yes, I would love a cold beer."

"Editor's note: Jerry Nine, Woodward, Oklahoma, is a lifetime cattleman who grew up on his family's ranch near Slapout, Oklahoma."

New Mexico Man Suspected of Fentanyl Use During Multi State Road Trip

January 3, 2024 - An Albuquerque, New Mexico man was arrested by Weatherford police recently after allegedly being under the influence of narcotics while traveling to Arkansas with two juveniles.

According to court records, 33-year-old Andrew Michael Robles was charged with child endangerment by driving under the influence, obstruction, and attempting to elude after being arrested on December 23.

The probable cause affidavit stated that police were dispatched to a convenience store after a 911 call from the store indicated that a child was attempting to get away from the defendant.

When police arrived and made contact with the 10-year-old female, she would tell police that she was on the road trip with her friend, a 12-year-old female, and her father: Robles.

The child would tell police that she feared for her safety saying that she suspected the defendant was using narcotics on the trip. Among other instances, she stated that Robles would allegedly fall asleep while driving.

When police attempted to make contact with the defendant, who was in his pickup at the time, the affidavit stated that Robles would flee the scene with his 12-year-old daughter in the pickup.

After a short pursuit, police were able to make a felony stop on Robles and place him under arrest and was booked into the Weatherford Jail.

A search of the vehicle and Robles would turn up various drug paraphernalia which indicated to police that Robles had allegedly been smoking suspected fentanyl.

Both juveniles were released to family members and were unharmed.

Bond for Robles was set at $25,000.

ECPD Detective Honored

January 2, 2024 For his efforts in the arrest of a man later found guilty of producing and possessing child pornography, an Elk City Police Detective was honored recently.

During the latest meeting of the Elk City Commission, Detective Ray Chatham was awarded the Merit Award for Excellent Arrest from the American Hall of Fame.

Chatham was recognized for his efforts to quickly gain access to the suspect's home (later identified as being 37-year-old Timothy Blaylock Jr.) and preventing a possible assault on a young child.

Chatham, who is also a member of the Oklahoma Internet Crimes Against Children, received a call on July 28 from the FBI concerning their investigation of an internet crime against children. He was told that the subject was online at the time, and the FBI had reason to believe that an assault of a child was imminent. Det. Chatham formed an entry team and made entry into the residence, detained the suspect and secured the scene.

After his arrest, the FBI determined that Blaylock had produced child pornography with two children using his cellphone. Blaylock also downloaded other child pornography via the internet and had it on his cellphone.

And if the babies aren't swatting flies, he's retaining that weight to go to market with. That's all you've got to sell is weight of the cow.'"
