Time for us all to stay positive

Jerry Nine
Woodward, OK

By the time this gets to print we will surely know who our next president and other leaders are. I feel there is so much at stake with this election. Regardless of the outcome we still live in the greatest land of all and I hope not only for myself, but the future generations that it stays that way.

I am so tired of messages on my phone and radio ads that make me turn the radio off. Regardless of the outcome if you are a believer you still realize God is in control. I what the weatherman says. We have a chance for rain and God probably says keep in mind "I am still in control."

This past week a big area received much needed moisture with our area mostly 1 1/2 to 2 inches. But central Oklahoma showed 5 to 7 inches, with one man saying he received 12 inches that came in three rains. He said he hadn't checked, but he was sure he didn't have any water gaps left as all were washed out.

Most sale barns, for the week are very low numbers, but these rains should keep a lot of the calves in our area now that there will be some wheat pasture. If you are going to survive in the cattle business or farming you have to get rain. Yes, if you know me by now, that four-letter word snow is a dirty word.

Some of these prices you see at the sale barn for the best quality of calves and the most sought-after weight shows there are buyers more aggressive than I am. A friend sold some steers right off the cow weighing 552 pounds that brought $315 per hundredweight, and the bigger brothers weighing 679 pounds brought $100 less per head. I know from owning a sale barn for 23 years that is hard to explain to a customer. But I had to say I can't tell them what to give on certain classes. The big ones were too big for what most wanted for wheat pasture.

At the breakfast table of knowledge this morning a man said if his body was a car he would trade it in for a newer model. Because every time he coughs or sneezes his radiator leaks and his exhaust backfires. Wow these old guys are too old for me. I need to find another table.

Editor's note: The views expressed here are the author's own and do not represent the view of High Plains Journal. Jerry Nine, Woodward, Oklahoma, is a lifetime cattleman who grew up on his family's ranch near Slapout, Oklahoma.

October Sales Tax Revenue for Local Cities Shows Mixed Results

November 11, 2024 - Sales tax revenue figures for October 2024 reveal varied results across Western Oklahoma cities compared to the same month last year. Elk City led the gains with a 4% increase, amounting to $1,324,434.66, up from $1,272,828.26 in October 2023.

Clinton also posted a slight increase of 1.9%, totaling $554,062.47, while Altus saw a minor dip of 0.7% to $1,159,382.98. Woodward experienced a more significant decline, dropping by 5.2% to $1,082,055.82. Sayre and Mangum faced the steepest drops, with Sayre down 15% to $136,044.95 and Mangum plunging 26% to $51,789.39.

Weatherford, usually a strong performer, saw a notable 9.9% decrease, recording $1,066,761.28 in October 2024, compared to $1,185,061.68 the previous year. Cordell's intake remained almost flat, seeing a slight 0.25% decrease.

On a broader scale, the State of Oklahoma's total sales tax revenue for October 2024 was $238,460,919.30, a 1.7% decrease from $242,708,616.13 in October 2023. These numbers reflect broader economic trends and varying local factors impacting consumer spending in each community.

While some cities saw growth, others faced declines, highlighting an uneven economic landscape as local governments assess their revenue projections for the upcoming fiscal year.

Recent Rains Ease Drought in Parts of Oklahoma, But Majority Still

November 11, 2024 - Recent rains have certainly helped western and southwest Oklahoma's drought status; however, more than 67 percent of Oklahoma remains in some degree of drought.

According to the latest data released on Thursday by the U.S. Drought Monitor, the majority of southwest Oklahoma, which includes Kiowa, Greer, Jackson, and Harmon Counties, remains in severe drought conditions.

Beckham County, along with western Washita County and central Custer County, is listed as being in moderate drought, while other areas to the north, including the majority of Roger Mills County, are listed as abnormally dry.

According to the Oklahoma Mesonet, 10-day rain totals for the area were not only much needed but also very impressive.

Locally, Elk City and Weatherford received just over 7 inches of rain, Bessie 7.5 inches, Sayre 6.1 inches, and the Butler/Foss Reservoir received 6.3 inches.

The "winner" appears to be Hollis, with the Mesonet showing that area received over 9.2 inches—the highest 10-day total in the entire state.

According to the Oklahoma Mesonet, 56 of 77 counties have received four or more inches of rain, and all but two Oklahoma counties have received at least one inch of rain since October 29.

Clinton City Council Approves Hospital Sale, Sets Special

November 8, 2024- SDuring a special meeting of the Clinton City Council on Thursday night, a letter of intent from Rural Hospital Solutions (RHS) was approved, allowing RHS to begin managing Clinton Regional Hospital on Monday.

The Council also approved an ordinance authorizing the sale of the real property, personal property, equipment, and receivables of Clinton Regional Hospital to RHS for a purchase price of $6,000,000.

Concluding the meeting, the Council approved a resolution authorizing the calling and holding of a special election in the City of Clinton on January 14, where voters will decide on the sale's approval.
