Rain Cows Pizza and Legmeat by the Pound

by: Jerry Nine – Woodward, Okla.

Sunday night in Arnett they were under a flash flood warning and picked up over 3 inches of rain. By Monday morning the grass looked greener, the cows looked happier, and the air smelled cooler—even had a little fog. The puddles didn't last long, but the mood sure improved. Fat cattle traded at $233 and feeders were steady to $2 higher.

One guy said, "I hope the packers don't read the market." I told him, "They already know, they're just hoping the feeders don't." Another one joked, "With $300 a head profit, you'd think everybody would be feeding cattle." I told him not everyone's looking for a job that doesn't pay every Friday. There are more profitable ways to go broke.

I told someone if my older daughter could turn into her younger sister there'd be fewer problems. She disagreed. She just says she manages her workload better.

A lot of folks are still cutting hay and asking if we're in a drought. Some spots yes, most no. A lot of ponds are full and the grass is growing. It's been a strange year—90 degrees in September, 40 in April. Every season feels a month late.

Folks are also talking about meat labeling laws and whether they'll matter. Probably not. Most of our Oklahoma beef is shipped east anyway. Some people still don't care what they eat.

Tonight I'm inviting friends over. I've got less than 40 chairs but I'll order sweet tea and pizza. I'll shut off the Wi-Fi, collect everyone's phones, and give them a list of ways to lose weight. Then I'll weigh everyone tomorrow just to see what happens. If it works, I might register it as a diet plan.

But while they're doing all that, I'll be in front of a fan eating fried chicken. If there's a scale at the fair, I might see what leg meat's going for by the pound.

Editor's note: The views expressed here are the author's own and do not represent the view of High Plains Journal. Jerry Nine, Woodward, Oklahoma, is a lifetime cattleman who grew up on his family's ranch near Slapout, Oklahoma.

Foss Lake Christmas in July Set for This Weekend

July 7, 2025 Foss, OK — One of Western Oklahoma’s most anticipated summer celebrations returns this year as Foss Lake Christmas in July brings two full days of fun to Foss State Park, July 11 and 12, 2025.

Festivities kick off Friday, July 11, at 1 p.m., with lights out at 11 p.m. The evening’s highlight will be the opening ceremony at Cedar Point Circle at 7:30 p.m., honoring veterans with a special guest speaker, a tribute to Joe and Neva Pyatt, and a flag retirement ceremony led by local Boy Scouts.

The fun picks up early Saturday morning, July 12, with gates opening at 8 a.m. and lights out again at 11 p.m. The Foss Lake Fun Run begins at 7 a.m. from the State Park office, followed by a kayak trail event at 10 a.m. at the Chinaberry Campground, with a meet-up time of 9:30 a.m.

Another fan-favorite returns at 2 p.m. — the Duct Tape & Cardboard Boat Race at Chinaberry Campground, challenging participants to stay afloat in their most creative watercraft builds.

The evening heats up with the Dean Jackson Band headlining a street dance from 8 to 11 p.m., which will pause mid-show for the much-anticipated fireworks display over the lake.

With patriotic flair, fun competitions, and family-friendly entertainment, Foss Lake Christmas in July continues to be a highlight of the summer in Oklahoma.
