Cold Weather Calving

by: Jerry Nine – Woodward, Okla.

At the sale the other day a man bought a steer and in my opinion was somewhat chronic. I heard a man behind me say to another man, “Do you think that steer will ever get well?”. Another friend beside me said, “That depends on how big the bunch is when he sells them”. Meaning, maybe he will be in the middle of that bunch. I remember about 20 years ago at the sale we had a large bunch of feeders in the ring and sure enough there was a plainer brindle steer that was lagging behind so I just tapped the steer so that he got more in the bunch. The auctioneer I had was pretty ornery so he stopped his auctioning and said, “Did you see what Herry just did? He poked that plain steer in the middle of the bunch”. I said, “I did not. Perhaps I thought that the plainer steer wanted to be closer to his friends, those better steers”.

As of Monday morning word spread fast of Booker Beef Packing Plant catching on fire. It was unknown early to the extent of the damage but anytime something disrupts the slaughtering at a facility it is never good. Booker primarily slaughters cows, perhaps some bulls but covers a large area in cattle auctions, slaughtering some immediately, but also keeping a good number in the feed lot to slaughter later. We will know more later but hopefully they can rebuild or repair as we never need less competition. Plus that small town has a lot of employees that need a job.

Last weekend a big area received bitter cold weather with our area receiving 4 inches but other areas not far away receiving a lot more. The temperatures got very low and any calves born in that weather had a high likelihood of not surviving. I have never understood how a calf can survive, sometimes born in very low temperatures and coming out of its mother at 102 degrees and getting licked off and getting a cup of milk. Some would say why don't you calve later in the year, but my experience of calving later is that the calf is not very big in the fall when the grass is drying up.

I pulled up to a stop sign and a guy in a car pulled up beside me ramming his motor way up. I rolled down my window and said, “If you are going to impress this gal in here with me with a vehicle it probably will have to be a food truck”.

Editor's note: The views expressed here are the author's own and do not represent the view of The Penny News. Jerry Nine, Woodward, Oklahoma, is a lifetime cattleman who grew up on his family's ranch near Slapout, Oklahoma.

State Rep. Nick Archer Files Bill to Grow Oklahoma's Nuclear Energy Sector

February 2, 2026 • Oklahoma City, OK — As the second session of the 60th Oklahoma Legislature gets underway, Elk City's own Rep. Nick Archer has introduced House Bill 3175, a measure aimed at positioning Oklahoma for growth in advanced nuclear energy.

The bill would set up a new Oklahoma Advanced Nuclear Energy Office within the governor's office. The office would be tasked with developing statewide strategies for advanced nuclear projects and attracting investment in advanced nuclear reactors and related technologies. It would serve as a central point of contact for industry, government and regulators.

Under the proposal, the office would:

- Lead strategic planning and public outreach for nuclear energy development.
- Work with higher education and industry to grow nuclear energy jobs and technology.
- Identify regulatory issues and offer guidance to businesses navigating the permitting process.
- Help Oklahoma compete for federal research projects and broader energy development.

HB 3175 also creates the Oklahoma Advanced Nuclear Development Revolving Fund, designed to award reimbursement-based grants to help cover planning, licensing, environmental studies and other early development work for advanced nuclear projects. Grant amounts and eligibility requirements would be set by rule.

The bill prohibits requiring a project to be in any particular location and includes measures to ensure transparency and oversight of grants and planning activities. If passed, the act would go into effect Nov. 1, 2026.

Archer said the office would help Oklahoma build jobs and energy security while preparing the state to attract future federal research and nuclear technology development opportunities.

The 2nd Session of the 60th Legislature begins Monday.

Elk City Leadership Hall of Fame to Induct Three Tonight

January 30, 2026 • Elk City, OK — Elk City honored three distinguished community leaders Friday night during the Elk City High School basketball doubleheader, with the Leadership Hall of Fame induction ceremony held between the girls and boys games.

The 2025 inductees were Sadiia Jones, Roger Shockey, and Dan Storm DDS. Each honoree has deep roots in Elk City and a long record of leadership, service, and achievement.

Sadiia Jones is an Elk City native and a 1995 graduate of Elk City High School. As a senior, she was a key member of the Elkettes 1995 Class 3A State Championship basketball team during the school's first year of 5 on 5 play. She was also a standout track athlete, winning a state title in the 100 meter hurdles and setting a school record that still stands. Jones went on to compete collegiately and earn advanced degrees in education and health. In July 2025, she was named Oklahoma City University Athletics Director after holding leadership roles at Dallas College, Seminole State College, and Northwestern Oklahoma State University. She comes from a family with a strong Elk City legacy, including her mother Minnie Dickerson Wharry and her late father Wayne Jones, both ECHS graduates.

Roger Shockey was born in Elk City and graduated from Elk City High School in 1979. A four year letterman, he was active in athletics, music, drama, and academics. After earning degrees from Southwestern Oklahoma State University, Shockey began a 36 year teaching career at Elk City High School, where he taught biology and chemistry until his retirement in 2019. He was recognized multiple times as High School Teacher of the Year and District Teacher of the Year. Beyond education, Shockey has been deeply involved in church leadership, ranching, and community service, continuing a family ranching tradition that dates back to 1905.

Dan Storm DDS, born and raised in Elk City, graduated from Elk City High School in 1968. He was active in band, student council, FFA, theater, and scouting, earning the rank of Eagle Scout. Storm earned degrees from Oklahoma State University and the University of Oklahoma College of Dentistry, later practicing dentistry in Elk City for 47 years. He served in numerous leadership roles, including the Oklahoma Board of Dentistry, Kiwanis, the Elk City Summer Youth Recreation Board, and the Elk City Museum Complex. Storm and his wife Susan have also been longtime supporters of church and youth programs in the community.

The Elk City Leadership Hall of Fame recognizes individuals who have made lasting contributions to the community through leadership, service, and excellence. The Friday night ceremony celebrated three inductees whose impact spans education, athletics, healthcare, and civic life, all rooted in Elk City.
